

FINAL YEAR MEDICAL STUDENTS
PAEDIATRIC TUTORIAL – 20.05.2015

Batch 22

Tutorial - 08

You were called to attend an emergency caesarian section done on a 28 year old mother due to fetal distress and meconium stained liquor. When you arrived in the theatre mother has not yet been anaesthetized.

- a) Describe the action that you would take on arrival at the theatre.

A baby boy was delivered. He was floppy, did not cry after birth and was pale.

- b) Describe how you would resuscitate the baby.
- c) The baby was successfully resuscitated but was having respiratory distress. Describe the management of the baby during next 24 hours.
- d) List the short term and long term complications that the baby is likely to develop.

Please note that the students who do not come prepared for the tutorial will not be allowed to participate at the tutorial and they will be marked absent.
